Adam-

Thank you for meeting and conferring with us again today. We appreciated both parties' attempts to reach agreement. Based on our conversation today, we continue to understand your clients' "red lines" to include (among other things) that they will not agree to any depositions at all if we plan to request the depositions of any White House official(s), and that they will not agree to the depositions of any witnesses or defendants not identified in the original complaint filed on May 5 (such as State Department, FBI, and Census Bureau)—notwithstanding the wealth of additional information about federal censorship activities that has come to light since then. We continue to believe that those depositions are extremely important to our request for preliminary injunctive relief, to uncovering the full scope and nature of the communications between federal officials and social-media companies on censorship, and to ensuring that our clients receive effective relief. Accordingly, we plan to request depositions of White House, State Department, and FBI official(s), among others. Because this appears to cross your clients' "red lines," we propose agreeing to disagree. Please be prepared to provide us with your half of the joint statement by 5:00 pm Eastern tomorrow afternoon.

Thanks, John

Hi John,

We have given our discussion today further thought. If you are willing to propose a list of 5 individuals for a global deal on these depositions that is consistent with the "red lines" we have identified and with the other points we discussed, then we think it makes sense to continue the conversation and to move to extend the joint statement due date to Wednesday, October 20. We suggest an extension to Wednesday, if it is worth continuing this conversation, due to some availability limitations on our end as well as to ensure the parties have sufficient time to discuss the proposals with multiple clients.

But, if you are insisting on overcoming our "red lines" or want to extend to a broader set of depositions, then we think it makes sense to move forward with filing the joint statement tomorrow.

Let us know your thoughts.

Thanks,
Adam

Dear Counsel-

Thank you for taking the time to meet and confer yesterday, and for providing a counter-proposal to our request for depositions of witnesses. As I discussed on the call, we envisioned a process whereby we might take our initial list of proposed witnesses and discuss the possibility of a narrowed list of one or two witnesses in each of the general areas (White House, FBI, HHS, DHS/CISA, Census, and State). Instead, you offered a different counter-proposal that asserted: (1) You are not willing to produce any White House officials for deposition. This includes Psaki, Slavitt, and Flaherty from our original proposed list. This is a “red line” to you, i.e., if we plan to request the Court’s authorization to depose any White House officials, you will not agree to any depositions at all, and will oppose our taking any depositions. (2) You object to producing “high-level” officials for deposition. To you, this includes Psaki, Slavitt, Flaherty, Fauci, Murthy, Easterly, and Silvers from our original proposed list. (3) You object to producing any former government officials who have left the federal government. You stated that this includes Psaki, Slavitt, Jankowicz, Masterson, and Stewart from our original proposed list. (4) You object to depositions of witnesses whose agencies were not sued in the original complaint filed on May 5, 2022 (this would exclude witnesses from White House, FBI, Census, and State on our list). (5) If you are agree to any depositions, you would require (A) an agreed subject-matter limitation on questioning that would restrict questions to issues directly related to the PI motion, and (B) an agreement that any witness deposed in expedited PI-related discovery could not be re-deposed during merits discovery absent a showing of “good cause.” If we are willing to agree to these five conditions (including sub-parts), you would be willing to agree to three depositions: (1) Lesko or Waldo from the Office of Surgeon General, (2) Crawford or Dempsey from HHS/CDC, and (3) Geoff Hale from CISA.

We have considered your proposal and think that the parties are unlikely to reach agreement. (1) We disagree with your insistence that no White House officials be deposed. As stated in our pleadings, these witnesses have unique knowledge of central relevance to our case and PI motion, and their depositions are of high importance to us. (2) We dispute your characterization of certain witnesses as “high-level,” and we do not agree to this restriction in any event, particularly because the documents produced so far demonstrate that these very witnesses have unique knowledge of critical communications that cannot be obtained from other sources. (3) We disagree with your objection to producing former federal officials. We are seeking discovery related to their (quite recent) work as federal officials, not anything related to their new jobs (whatever those may be). DOJ frequently produces such witnesses for deposition voluntarily, and they can be served with third-party subpoenas for deposition if necessary in any event. (4) We disagree that current defendants and officials from agencies that we have already sued are irrelevant to our request for preliminary injunctive relief, and so we disagree with this artificial restriction as well. If anything, obtaining discovery regarding newly disclosed officials is even more urgent from our perspective. (5)(A) We might be willing to agree in principle to a subject-matter limitation that questions in depositions must be relevant to our PI motion, but we doubt that the parties would see eye-to-eye on whether certain lines of questioning are relevant, and I would be reluctant to agree to any language that could lead to prolonged attorney disputes during depositions or open the door to attorneys defending depositions demanding an explanation of the relevance of certain lines of questioning before they are completed (and thus effectively coaching witnesses). (5)(B) We do not agree that a deposition during expedited PI-related discovery forecloses a deposition of the same witness during merits discovery.

In short, the parties seem far apart at this time. That said, we propose having a second conference to meet and confer on these issues tomorrow, to see if any further progress can be made. I have a meeting at 3:00pm Eastern/2:00pm Central but most other times will work. Please let us know your availability for a conference tomorrow.

Thanks, John

Max Lesko
Rob Silvers
Jen Easterly
Nina Jankowicz
Lauren Protentis

Please let us know your availability to meet and confer on that date.

Thanks,

Counsel,

Today, the contact you identified for us (Jeff Johnson) should be able to access our first production—containing over a thousand communications and documents, which we expect will represent a majority of the documents Defendants will produce—in response to Plaintiffs' Requests for the Production of Documents.

Further, attached are our Responses and Objections to Plaintiffs' Requests for the Production of Documents and Plaintiffs' Interrogatories. As noted in our Responses and Objections to Plaintiffs' Requests for the Production of Documents, Defendants intend to make rolling productions as additional documents become ready for production.

Let us know, of course, if there are any technical issues with tonight's production.

Thank you,
